Recommendations

- The Surgery provide a comments/complaints box for patients as the Friends and Family Test is a separate system.
- The Surgery look into the concerns raised by the patients in respect of the appointment booking system. One solution to this could be maximising the use of online appointment booking to reduce the amount of telephone traffic.
- The Surgery ensure that maternity appointments are clearly communicated to patients as applicable.

Surgery Response

Response by Susan Morgan, Practice Manager

We invited Healthwatch to visit our surgery as part of their Surgery Enter and View Programme. The team spent time talking to patients in the waiting room on a busy Monday Morning. Verbal feedback was given to me on the day.

We are pleased with the overall comments from patients. Staff and clinicians work hard to provide a high standard of care and to accommodate patients for their healthcare needs.

In response to the Health Watch team recommendations:

We will be providing a Feedback box in both waiting rooms to give patients the opportunity to communicate feedback. There are also Friends & Family Test survey cards available in the practice for patients to respond and note their comments anonymously.

We are continually reviewing the appointment demand and our appointment booking processes. We have made more GP appointments available to pre-book online, as well as by telephone or face to face request. We are publicising our late weekday clinics and Saturday clinics more widely. Appointment booking can be difficult at peak times, Monday mornings and some mornings between 8am and 10am can be the most busy. We would suggest patients only ring in the morning for appointments if they need to be seen on the same day. The telephones are less busy in the afternoons. If there is an urgent issue patients will always be offered at least a phone call by the duty doctor on the same day, the doctor will assess the condition and may invite the patient in for a face to face consultation on the same day.

Regarding the difficulties the patient had booking midwife appointments, the practice manager has contacted the midwife to clarify the booking process and this process has been reviewed with staff.

We do realise parking is an issue at times. Our long term development plans include better parking.

We cannot always accommodate patient requests for having their blood tests undertaken in the practice which have been requested by the hospital or consultants. We only have a limited number of appointments for blood tests and priority is given to patients needing a blood test requested by one of our doctors.

We would like to thank the patients who took time with the Healthwatch team to give their views and comments. We also thank the Health Watch team for their time and constructive comments.
